The Award Winning Gift Company

Canada's Market Leader in Wholesale Giftware

History & Heraldry Canada is a Canadian giftware distribution company based out of Charlottetown, Prince Edward Island. We are the go-to company for all your impulse-buy gifting needs, specializing in personalized and sentiment-based ranges for a whole variety of retail outlets. High-quality design, impulse pricing, and visually appealing displays are the core reasons that customers love our products.

History & Heraldry Canada is also the proud distributor of Heart & Home soy-blend candles. With soy wax as the central ingredient you can assure customers of a clean burn and a candle that is kind to the environment.

History

History & Heraldry Canada's humble beginnings date back to 1897, where the Davis family of Yarmouth, Nova Scotia began operating a printing press while also offering office supplies, books, and stationary to patrons of the small fishing community. Over time, the company's business model changed and they began to shift their focus towards the distribution of giftware to other retailers across Canada. In 2006, R.H Davis & Co. discovered the History & Heraldry Brand and eventually became the exclusive Canadian distributor of their products.

Today

Due to the sheer success of the History & Heraldry brand and a change of ownership in January of 2015, the company has rebranded their name from R.H. Davis to History & Heraldry Canada to better reflect the business and the products they carry. The company now operates out of Charlottetown, Prince Edward Island and carries over 20 H&H programs, as well as History & Heraldry's signature fragrance line, Heart & Home.

Going Forward

History & Heraldry Canada looks to add to the success that the H&H brand has seen worldwide, where 40 million products are sold every year, and can be found in over 50 international markets in 28 different languages. Our mission is to continue to expand on our timeless designs and innovative product lines, and to offer Canadian retailers the best quality customer service at the most competitive pricing possible. Our team in Prince Edward Island is committed to providing value to any retail business across Canada and can guarantee you will be satisfied with our offerings.

H&H uses localized sales reps to ensure heightened customer care and regional expertise.
